FRIDAY AUGUST 6th 1943

NUMBER 16

Rotary Club Welcomes District Governor

At noon today the District Governor of District 116 of Rotary International, Jack McFadden of Dauphin, Manitoba, met with the local Rotary Club to discuss with them plans for the coming year and to assist them in the solution of immediate Club problems. A full report will be given in next week's Recorder.

The Governor is going to Cardston for a meeting tonight with the Cardston Club. Because of travel conditions, and the fact that he must be back in his office on August 26th, this noon meeting was essential. Practically a full attendance of members greeted the Governor, despite the busy season.

CHANGES AT ELLISON'S

Carpenters have been busy for the past ten days at the local Ellison Elevator making some improvements to the local set-up.

The office space has been enlarged, and re-decorated. The feed storage in the office building has been thus reduced, but this loss of space has been more than offset by a storage room that has been built in the west end of the engine house. When the old diesel was discarded, the newer one was considerably smaller and only requires about half the space. This space which had been idle for a couple of years has now been turned into additional feed storage room. These changes and improvements will make the local elevator and feed agency of Ellison's more commodious for their patrons.

Jas. Neilson, Building Superintendent of the Company has been in charge of the work.

Miss Janet Dahl, who is working in the Wheat Pool office at Calgary spent the week-end at home and returned to her work Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Heninger of Montreal are visiting here for a month. Maurice is studying medicine at McGill University and doing fine. He expressed his pleasure at visiting on the prairies for awhile.

NEWS NOTES

P.O. Mahlon Smith, is home for a while from his training in the R.C.A.F.

L. D. King and Loren Larson were Lethbridge visitors on Tuesday.

Reed Anderson and Howard Hamling of Tyrells Lake were Raymond visitor Sunday evening.

Edward Audenart has joined the R.C.A.F. as Wireless Mechanic and is reporting for training on August 19th. He enlisted July 29th at Calgary, and will commence his basic training at Edmonton.

The egg grading room, which was badly damaged in the recent Cheese Factory fire, has been finished up again now and the egg grading department was moved back into it the first of the week.

Drumheller and Rocky Mountain House districts both received hail storms Monday afternoon and evening, hail stones reported as large as hens eggs, windows broken by the hundreds and crops and gardens pounded into the ground with 100 p.c. damage in some sections of these districts.

Showers Help Crops

Dry weather has prevailed for another week. Scattered showers over the district have stopped burning of grain crops and will help some in filling, although up until Thursday morning there had not been sufficient rain to really benefit the crops much.

Beets are making steady growth, but are taking a great deal of water. Fields are some what spotted, the spring being cold and backward and germination not as even as in ordinary years. Alfalfa is very good where it can be watered, but on high spots where water can not be applied it is short and burned. Second cutting is being taken care of now and will be pretty well in stack by the end of the week.

R. M. S. Lady Nelson

R.M.S. Lady Nelson, once the proud flagship of the Canadian West Indies Fleet, is now a hospital ship, known simply as Canadian Army Ship No. 46. She made her first Atlantic crossing in May, bringing Canadians from Britain, some of them Dieppe veterans, and Americans from North Africa. In the picture CBC's commentator Jean Marshall, is talking with Captain George W. Welch, first officer to command a Canadian hospital ship in this war. Miss Marshall described her visit aboard the Lady Nelson in a recent CBC Canadian Round-Up programme (Mondays, 9:15 p.m. CDT, 8:15 p.m. MDT.)

Opportunity Knocks

(Contributed)

Opportunity knocked at our door a number of years ago, when the Provincial Government offered us the present Mental Hospital for use as a Municipal Hospital for a song and we could choose our own number. THE KNOCK WAS NOT ANSWERED.

Opportunity knocks also at our Doctor's door. Did you know that he spends 50 p.c. of his time on the road. Shall we heed his knock and supply him with a well equipped and modern Hospital so that we shall always be able to call his Telephone Number and find him there and ready to care for us.

Opportunity knocks. We now have the opportunity of having a new and up-to-date and modern Hospital in our district. Shall opportunity again knock in vain.

RED CROSS SERVING WELL

About a year ago, Mrs. Marion Palmer made a baby's gown for the Red Cross and when completed put her name and address on a slip of paper and pinned it on the garment. The following letter came in recognition of the gown, and shows that we never know what good our donated labor to the Red Cross may do.

Manor Park
London.

Dear Mrs. Palmer

Just a line to let you know I was the lucky one to get the baby's gown you made, I am expecting my 7th baby in a few weeks time and I had to go to our local Town Hall for help as my husband is on Active Service, and they gave me 2 baby's gowns 2 vests and 5 napkins as I cannot afford to buy many things for this new baby.

I do hope you don't think I am taking a liberty writing to you, but it would be nice to know if you received it, as you are such a long way away from us in London. I am 30 years of age and I have fair auburn hair, I have 4 boys, aged 12 yrs 9 yrs, 7 yrs, 5 yrs, 2 girls aged 10½ and 2 and a half. Their names are John, Derk, Ronald, Rodney, Gwendoline and Janet. I don't think there is any more to say, so I will close, hoping to have a reply, and wishing you all the best of luck.

Yours Sincerely
Mrs. Mimio Hearne

Miss Alicia S. Kent of New Dayton has joined the CWAC as photographer and will report for duty August 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Jensen who have been in Eastern Canada where Bryant is serving with the R.C.A.F. are home for a brief visit.

Directors of the Cheese Factory met in regular meeting last Thursday and discussed the recent fire and arrangements that had been made for repairs and redecorating the building. Satisfaction was expressed at the steady progress of the business.

FARM FOR VICTORY

SHALL WE HAVE OUR HOSPITAL

This is the question that is in every person's mind now, and the result rests with the voters of the area who must answer yes, or no to the question.

That we are in great need of a Hospital, goes without saying. There is no argument on that point. The only question that hits home is whether or not we are willing to shoulder the burden of a few dollars added taxation to enjoy the benefits that a Hospital would bring to the Town and district. After all, even in the most extreme cases, the added taxes would not be very large and the dividends accruing to you and your neighbor from this added tax in case of serious illness or accident, would be worth a thousand times the cost if suffering were mitigated or a life saved. Then too, with each year of the war, the need for a Hospital increases as tires become thinner, cars less dependable, and the supply of gasoline more uncertain. Take stock of what the past two years have done to driving and the decrease in the number of cars on the highway and picture the travel conditions if we have another two years of war, which is not at all unlikely. We will still have sickness and accidents, and we will still have hospitalization, if not here, then somewhere else, but it would be comforting indeed to know that we had it here.

Let's face another fact. How would you like to be without a Doctor? How would you like to be forced to call every time you needed medical attention for a Doctor to come from Lethbridge (if you could get one), and then on top of the regular fee pay mileage for a 45 mile round trip. Orchids to Dr. Madill for the splendid service he has rendered, and also his predecessors here. But, with the demand there is at present for Doctors will Dr. Madill, or any other Doctor continue to work as he has worked to render service to his patients under existing conditions. You ask yourself this question, and be honest in your answer, what would you do?

We are not trying to paint an exaggerated picture, but we think we might just as well face the facts as they exist. We have the opportunity NOW to get a Hospital. In pursuing this Act the local Board has considerable leeway in setting the amount a large taxpayer will pay before another contract is allowed on his payment, and in the great majority of cases the levy for Hospital tax will little more than pay the minimum contract. The small property holder will be asked to make up the difference between his taxes and the $10. minimum, the large taxpayer may pay a little more in some cases.

All other arguments aside, the question remains, shall we or shall we not have a Hospital? If we are unwilling to sacrifice a few dollars for the upbuilding of our community, then Vote no. If we are really interested in the future of our children and their children, in maintaining and enlarging the town and its services and population, in seeing a progressive community and a Town that we are proud to call our home and invite our friends to visit us in, in measuring up in deed as we do in word to the fundam

WEEKLY LETTER

WILL FALL COVER CROPS DECREASE NEXT YEAR'S YIELDS?

A number of enquiries have been received at the Lethbridge Experimental Station regarding the probability of next year's yields being reduced on summer-fallows if a cover crop is seeded on the fallow late this summer. The Experimental Station staff have been studying this question for a number of years and the possibility of a decrease in yields after cover crops seems to be wholly a matter of the moisture in the soil of the fallow.

Of course cover crops use moisture. The soil samples taken on fields where cover crops are growing show that they dry out the soil down to a depth of from 12 to 18 inches depending on the height of the cover crop. It should be expected that cover crops seeded the last week in July would use the moisture in the top 18 inches of soil. If the fall season is warm and the killing frost late, they might dry the soil to a greater depth than 18 inches.

This simply means that that much moisture has been lost from the soil. If there has been sufficient moisture during the season the fallowing is done to wet the soil to a depth of six feet, this loss of the moisture from the top foot or two of the soil will not interfere with the next year's crop providing there is sufficient fall or spring precipitation to wet the soil down to the depth that it has been dried out. However, if the summer-fallowing season has been dry, as is the case in parts of Southern Alberta this year, and the fallows are moist only to two or three feet, then the moisture used by the cover crop would definitely decrease next year's crops if the season were dry unless there was moisture enough left to replace that used by the cover crop and sufficient more to wet the soil down to five or six feet.

This reasoning is based on the knowledge that grain crops can use the soil moisture down to a depth of about 6 feet. If the soil is wet to 6 feet when growth starts in the spring, the soil is in the best condition possible as far as moisture is concerned. Therefore, if some moisture has been taken out by the cover crop but enough more has fallen so that the soil is wet down to 6 feet, the cover crop should not decrease the yield of the wheat crop that is to follow.

The general experience is that cover crops seldom decrease the yields of the next year's crop in the wetter areas of the province but usually do in the drier localities for the reasons indicated above.

These figures were found to prevail in Saskatchewan last year. Naturally they will vary as the conditions change from one locality to another. However they may give some indication to Alberta farmers who are hiring custom work done.

The results of the work done at Swift Current have been compiled into a leaflet which outlines the method of calculating the basic rates per hour. The method followed is simple and applies under varied conditions. The hourly basis is probably the most equitable one to use. Anyone interested in obtaining this leaflet may do so by writing for Circular No. 174, Publicity and Extension Branch Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, or from your district Agriculturist.

WEALTH WITHOUT WORK

A most plausible writer is R. J. Deachman, who is a regular contributor to many Canadian newspapers. In a recent article from his pen under the heading of "Wealth Without Work," Mr. Deachman expands on the subject "a coddled nation will not go far." As an example he says that the Scots were never a coddled race. The soil was thin, the people poor, but from that rugged land and rigorous clime there came as grand a race of men and women the world has ever known. The Scotch were born with the idea that they had to work for what they got. This inculcated faith, hope, adventure, high daring and a brave life. The same was true of the Pilgrim Fathers who landed on the stern New England coast and whose early hardships developed the virility of spirit and the austere power which shaped for a time the life of the land to which they came.

All that Mr. Deachman says in this regard is true. Tough land and a rigorous climate makes a hard, determined people. The soft life of the lush tropical regions develops an easy-going, subservient people.

Mr. Deachman does not pursue his subject far enough. The people of Canada who are today compelled to live rigorous lives because of arduous climatic conditions and the need of long hours of work do not complain so much of what they have to endure. Their vexation is that a very small group of people in a preferred position can enjoy a luxurious life mostly at the expense of those who have to meet and overcome nature on the rough frontiers.

Just because a man invents a fuel that will take the knock out of a gasoline engine, is it right that his descendants to the third and fourth generation and even longer should live in ease and without working? Why should the heads of great corporations be permitted to obtain salaries running into hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, thus giving their families and descendants the easiest kind of existence with all the luxuries that money can buy? Why don't such people practise the 'hard life' which Mr. Deachman talks about? It is such examples which cause the unrest among the people who have to work long and arduous hours for virtually all of their living years.—Brooks Bulletin.

SHADE FOR SWINE

Every year thousands of pigs receive serious setbacks due to sunscauld. All possible precautions should be taken to provide adequate shade. If natural shelter in the form of trees or brush is not available, a cheap shelter should be constructed.
A few poles laid across posts driven into the ground and covered with brush or old straw provide adequate protection from the burning rays of the sun. The white breeds particularly require some such form of protection, and the provision of suitable shelters will reduce sunscauld and blistering to the minimum.

In addition to adequate shade
the use of oil is recommended both as preventive and cure. As a preventive, used crank case oil is quite satisfactory. A post set up in the swine yard and wrapped with burlap moistened with oil will provide a rubbing post for the pigs and form an economical means of protection.

Pigs that become sun scalded and blistered should be treated by applying new machine oil to ing the animals to shady quarters for a few days.
